

Provision of an external business continuity manager (authorised representative)

The appointment of a business continuity manager or officer is anchored as a necessity in a number of legal and industry-specific requirements. The appointment of a business continuity officer is also required in accordance with common standards such as the BSI 200-4 standard.

TÜV TRUST IT provides you with highly qualified experts with many years of experience to fill the role of the business continuity manager or authorised representative. We offer you the opportunity to benefit from our extensive expertise without having to build up additional internal personnel resources or to bridge personnel bottlenecks.

Approach

Together with you, we define the objectives and tasks of the BC manager / officer in your organisation, based on your BCM processes and operational requirements. We determine which methods, proven procedures and best practices we will introduce as part of our service. We are happy to take an objective perspective on the processes of your BCMS and support you in further optimising it or identifying potential weaknesses and risks. Targeted coaching or training measures for your teams promote awareness of the importance of business continuity management and complete our range of services.

Your benefit

- Expertise and many years of experience in the implementation and operation of BCMS
- Utilisation of proven procedures and best practices based on common standards
- Protection of internal personnel resources, compensation for temporary personnel bottlenecks
- Identification and elimination of potential weaknesses and risks in your BCMS
- Access to human resources without long-term commitments in the form of internal appointments
